ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Disclosed herein is a wireless vital signs transmission system which can transmit with various wireless modes, a variety of human vital signal monitored by proper detecting devices, to desired terminal electronic devices, or even transfer to further remote destination for displaying on, storing in, or cautioning by the electronic devices, after the vital signs have been processed by a processor built in the transmission system.